JOHN BRIGHT IN THE LIBRARY

Full Figure Life-sized Portrait Presented.

A VALUABLE GIFT

From Late James Charlton,
Who Died In Chicago.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Library Board, held last evening, Mr. H. B. Wilton made a motion that the portrait of John Bright, which was donated by the executors of the estate of the late James Charlton, be accepted, and ordered it to be placed on the wall and entered to be placed on the fall meeting of the directors. The motion carried. The portrait is an admirable carriage and is a credit to the memory of the great statesman, taken when the great political orator was in the zenith of his career. It is approximately valued at $2,000, but if put up for sale it would in all probability bring more than that, as there is only one other like it on vane. The portrait is placed among the treasures of the British Museum, and is brought to bring it to the country, the late John Hobday had it insured for $1,000. Mr. Hobday was a lifelong friend and fellow publicist of Bright, and in his "Travels in America" he thus describes his picture and how it found its way to America:

"Wendell Phillips said to me in 1879: 'Ask Mr. Hobday if he will come over to America and see his friends,' and when I carried out this suggestion, Mr. Bright said in sorrow that his friends in that country would never see him. Then I said, 'They will see you in the portrait I will take them.' The picture then will now hang on the walls of the Public Library in the same position as the portraits of the founders of America; Mr. Hobday took to America in 1882."

Describing the portrait, Mr. Hobday adds: "My townsmen of Ceylon have given me a picture of Mr. Bright at full length for a sculptor to refer to in working on a marble statue. To do this I have added a few touches, and put every effort at his command and produced a work of art, and though it is life size it is no exaggeration to say that it is a masterpiece of it, which I took to America. It is the great orator just as we saw him in his day of power, the plenitude, or his life. His countenance has seen him when the crowd may go through the corridors, 'Bright's up!' The attitude is his unaffected, as they are when the inspiration of passion is on him. His look is daring and defiant, with the sense of control. He has taken a full page facsimile of it, by Johnston, with a sketch of Bright's life by Easett. Not long before Mr. Charlton came to me with his eldest daughter that this picture might be presented to some public institution in this city. That is why Mr. Charlton has been unaffected by my application to the Public Library. It is an interesting gift as a tribute of personal regard to a man who has done so much good and chosen place of burial, and is one that places in the possession of this community a memorial of an Englishman who has given his life to a cause as a work of art, and will increase in sentiment and value as the years roll on, and the day to come can hardly fail to become brighter."

I. O. F. SOUNDER NOW THAN EVER BEFORE

That Was Declaration at the Grand Concert in Association Hall.

Court Oronhyatekha Gave Notable Entertainment Last Night.

Leaving in the minds of an audience the well filled Association Hall last night an impression of the growing recognition of the two fraternalism and an appreciation of the vast accomplishments of the Independent Order of Foresters and simultaneously giving an evoking of rare enjoyment through the introduction of talented artists, the officers and members of the Court Oronhyatekha successfully presented one of the most notable events in the lodge's history. Carefully planned by a select committee, the grand concluding concert was given to audience and entertainers, and undoubtedly accomplished much for the general advance of the order among Hamiltonians.

The programme of the evening was carefully handled by the chairman, Major Bro. Geo. H. Lee, who introduced the various artists after a short, yet convincing oration of the I.O.F. He explained that like most of those enjoying the many benefits of the order, he had had to learn the ropes, and did so ten years ago.

Since becoming associated with the Foresters, though, he was satisfied he was on an order on the soundest basis possible, one whose insurance was really worth while. "The fraternal part of the order also is a splendid thing," he declared. "While I have not had the opportunity to take advantage of it to as great an extent as I would have liked, it is a grand chance to meet, and particularly the young men. It is a counter-attraction to the saloon and other evil influences, and has an elevating effect on all associated with it. On behalf of Court Oronhyatekha, I thank you for your large attendance. In view of the inclemency of the weather, I think the committee did well to have it at grand hall, and to have all the artists, all of Toronto, were: Miss Maude M. Bigwood, soprano soloist; Miss Lillian Dillon, pianist; Miss Dorothy Armstrong, violin; Miss H. S. Lloyd, comedian. They were encoraged a half dozen times each, and warmly applauded at the close of the entertainment.

Reference was also made to the order's sanitarium in the Adirondacks, where 125 were treated for tuberculosis in 1912.

Closing, Mr. Mitchell paid high tribute to T. D. Droke, the chairman of the committee in charge, and the other members.

The musical entertainment was of a high order. The soloists, all of them artists, all of Toronto, were: Miss Frank Brown, David Binney, Robert Hazard, George R. and Thomas Rosseign and William W. Weeks.

Mr. Droke, chairman of the platform, was a man whom we all appreciated and for whom I had great respect for his wonderful work in the cause of the order. Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Daniel Kapple, was unable to present the memorial of the weather, but the musical entertainment was a grand success.

For visitors to Hamilton audiences have received a hearty welcome, and have an elevating effect on all associated with it. On behalf of Court Oronhyatekha, I thank you for your large attendance. In view of the inclemency of the night to a high pitch, and in his broad outlook on fraternalism, brought to each of his lodges, he felt, in his opening remarks, that the great fraternal work that was being done was truly second to none in the country. It seemed for mankind to join hands for the general uplift and elimination of the world's spirit so prominent in every country, and one of the strongest principles of Forestry, that each of its lodges rooms members were taught to hold their neighbor in high esteem, and in due time that the speaker emphasized, men would not be so apt to scandalize and curse fellow creatures. He did not advise any action to be taken to criticize other orders. The I.O.F. was kept busy trying to do right unto one and other. All men of good will in the organization of God and the brotherhood of man were made welcome. He believed that the order was a true representative of man's highest ideals, and were to bring young men away from the hotels and poolrooms, and in making them desirous to co-operate in the work of general welfare.

I. O. F. VISIT

It was a pleasure to see from this city had the pleasure, and the staff exemplified the Degree of Truth. Captain McIlroy was in charge. After the degree was made to the Ten Pot Inn, where a hearty supper was served, the team, which Major Spence presided. Toasts were proposed and ably responded to by songs, singing and dancing.

Manager Yates Will Arrive Here on Monday Morning

Father's Illness Causes His Delay--Players Should Arrive in Two Weeks Time.

The directors of the local club received word from Manager Yates this morning informing them that he would be here no later than Tuesday morning. In his letter Dr. Yates stated that his father was still very ill and this is responsible for his delay in getting here. The first batch of players to report should be here about April 8th, and they will be followed in two weeks' time by several other artists, and by the end of April every signed player should be gambling around Britannia Park.

Last season the Hamilton contingent gave way to a good start, and for the first month were well up in the running with St. Thomas, but as will be remembered, the boys went to the bad shortly after, and before long they were fighting hard to keep in the first division, and later in the season dropped even to the last place. This will not be the case this year, as the team is now to a good start, and my fears that are unfortunate enough to have had breaks during the first month is liable to stay down in the race. The class of players that have been signed up by each manager makes the league look fifty per cent stronger than in former years, and according to "Joyce," every team will be fighting for the championship when the league opens.

Even to old Peterboro, a team that has not made any kind of a showing in the league so far, have signed up many good players, and Manager Blount is expecting big things from his class B artists. Nearly all of last year's pitching staff have been signed up, and they are the class leaders who should show some form this season with a good team to support them.

Manager Yates has not been idle in signing up players, and according to the latest news he has signed up ten for his team during the past two weeks, the team this season will certainly take some beating. Every player on the team is a star, and it is the favorite with the fans if they show their old-time form with the Hamilton team.

The work of putting Britannia Park in readiness for the ball season, which is now only a week away, is progressing at an early date, and according to reports, the park will have a much neater appearance this season than ever before. It is to be expected that the water soaked, but a few loads of dirt and a little scraping will fit it up nicely. The park will be situated in the same place as in former years, but the infield will be skinned and fixed up, and the grass will be in good appearance. The outfield will also be fixed up, and the grass will be kept in the best condition. The new stands will not be ready to receive the spectators until the first game, but the park will be in good condition.

The class of ball will be the same as before, but this does not mean that the prices will be advanced in any respect, and the fans will be able to see Class C play at a reasonable price.

While the opening day is a long way off as yet, all preparations for a grand opening are being made, and the fans are in an early meeting. In Ottawa the directors are going to ask the Mayor to declare a holiday for the occasion, and it would not be surprising if all the Hamilto nians Hall from the Cleveland Naps. The Cleveland Club drafted him from the Johnson City team of the Appalachian League last fall, and he has been doing well since he joined the Ottawa. He is to take him under optional agreement subject to recall, but the Canadian League claimed him and refused to release him.

Orillia April 2--Hall won sixteen and lost nine games for the Johnson

City team. He has done good work for Cleveland, and the Indians have Orillia Free Press. Manager Birmingham, who came up from Saturday for Indianapolis, will find lots over Jack Hendrickson's shoulder players, and the most promising men have been turned out by this town to stay any other in Ontario. One of the most notable of the hockey players, Mr. W. H. Downey, was heavily favored.

Mr. C. Miller spoke of Orillia's players days, and said that right from the start Orillia always stood No. 1 in speed and skill placed down the line, and the most prominent and the most sporting men have been turned out by this town to stay any other in Ontario.

Orillia's champion is J. Gray, the short shover, J. Hill, and several others.

Frank Kefab and Frank Smekens, both from Chicago, will be here next week, and the two youngsters are looking fine and itching for the season to begin.

Pratt, Johnson, and Johnnie Johnson, from the same city, will be here next week, and the two youngsters are looking fine and itching for the season to begin.

At leaving Indianapolis, Shaw told me that W. H. Downey had found four pitchers in camp. There is also a chance of the Senators handing over a couple of their inferior players

LAURIER MAKES ATTACK ON THE N. T. R. REPORT

The Best Railway That Science Could Devise or Money Could Build.

Stinging Criticism of Gutelius and Mr. George Lynch-Staunton.

Ottawa, April 2.—In a remarkable speech of nearly two hours' duration, marked by all his old-time fire, eloquence and vigor of argument and delivery, Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-night summed up the Liberal indictment against the "unshushing partisans" libel against the Liberal party, against the National Transcontinental Railway, and against Canada itself," contained in the report of Messrs. Gutelius and Lynch-Staunton. In detail, with all the essential points of that report, answered all the chief arguments which have been given during the past week from the Government side of the House and pointed the inevitable conclusion.

His concluding declaration that the Liberals gladly accepted the responsibility for the construction of the road, were proud of its design, had faith in its future provided it was carried through as Parliament and the people of Canada intended it should be built, and his warning to the Government that they could not escape the great responsibility of destroying the road to suit partisan or private interests, was greeted with enthusiastic and continued cheering throughout Liberal in the House.

GOVERNMENT MORALITY REDUCED.

The vote was taken at 12:00 on Hon. Mr. Graham's amendment, concerning the Government for the appointment of an Intercolonial Commissioner for the misleading and unfair findings in their report. It was a straight party division. The Government voted 165 to 47, a Government majority of 38. The cheering came from both sides of the House, the Liberals applauding, the Conservatives failing to do so in the normal Government majority.

PREMIER BORDEN'S REPLY.

Premier Borden, in replying, frankly stated that he did not intend to discuss the report in detail. He spent considerable time in giving Sir Gutelius and Lynch-Staunton a certificate of character, and harped on the conclusive manner with which the question of policy as to the construction and the building of the New Brunswick section, and declared that the Government had to decide, whether it was to be built to grade, or whether it was to be built to a local road to please the C. P. R. and the commercial consequences of diverting traffic to American ports.

He wound up with a remarkable and spirited speech, full of pride and pride in the whole undertaking, his faith in the successful achievement of the objects for which the road was designed, and his confidence in the Government's ability to make it a local road to please the C. P. R. and the commercial consequences of diverting traffic to American ports.

RIGHT TO INVESTIGATE.

Under such circumstances it was not surprising that a Commission should be issued if the Government believed in the truth of what its supporters had asserted. They had accused themselves, many of them, into a frenzied conviction that a great wrong had been done to them, and the commissioners to take the course they had.

"When the counterfeiter seeks to pass his spurious coin upon the market, it is right to investigate him. When the Government is accused of being a counterfeiter, it is right to investigate it." The latter might well have been a "Gullible" Committee of Errors, by Messrs. Gutelius and Lynch-Staunton, counterfeited.

Sir Wilfrid, who had argued against the committee, said: "was in the personnel of the Commission there had been a known partisan, who entered upon his duties as Commissioner with preconceived prejudices against the Transcontinentals, with whom Mr. Gutelius was a man who had been useful to

Hon. Frank Cochrane in Ontario, and became a Commissioner with a $20,000 prize in the General Management of the Intercolonial kept dangling before his eyes. Guthrie pointed out to the Commissioners that they were careful to confine their investigation to operations under the Liberal Government. The Government had been in charge of Transcontinental construction for more than two years. "All they sought," he said of the Commissioners, "was to investigate the other fellow."

SUB-LETTING BY GOVERNMENT.

Dealing with the criticism of sub-leasing, Mr. Lalonde, Mr. Gauthier pointed out that the practice of the present Government in the case of the Welland Canal and the Hiram Cerf Dam, the latter being the entire line under Hon. Mr. Cochrane, and in sub-leasing on such terms as those as were made by the Government on the Transcontinental under the Liberals, they had been properly justified.

"For the most part," Mr. Guthrie said in this report is the first kind of bungo. Under the late Government the road was kept up to the standard. There was no reason to degrade it. We tried to carry out the agreement under which the road was to be kept up to the standard of the Grand Trunk Pacific through it, and the fault is Major Leonard, with Messrs. Gutelius and Staunton, and the Government which backs them up."

RECKLESS CHARGES HURLED.

Mr. W. H. Bennett (East Simcoe) followed Gutelius with a typically Bennett speech. He has a tendency to speak his mind, and recklessly charges across the chamber.

The project of building the National Transcontinental, he said, "put every man in the eye of every hungry camp-lover." Ministers who had entered politics as paupers had become millionaires, and the public was "easy and simple."

Mr. McLean had "tried little and failed much."

"It looked like the last chance to get rich quick."

Hon. Mr. Graham, he said, was "easy and simple."

"It was a discarded and discredited politician," Mr. McLean had "tried little and failed much."

ROTARY CLUB AT LUNCHEON

Guests of H. L. Frost at Wire Fence Works.

SAW PLANT RUNNING

And Heard An Address By Mr. Frost.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the Rotary Club met in the offices of the Frost Wire Company. The president, R. T. Kelley, occupied the chair, but H. L. Frost was host of the day, ably fulfilling social duties at an excellent luncheon which was well attended at the conclusion of which a motion was made by W. H. Wardrope, E.C., that the Toronto Rotary Club be invited to be the guests of the Hamilton club two weeks hence. This carried unanimously.

No other business was transacted, but Mr. Frost took the occasion to give a short address on the wire industry of the country, telling his listeners that he had had a desire to start a factory in Canada, his father giving him $2,000 for this purpose. One thousand of this was invested in machinery, and the rest kept for running expenses. At the end of the first six months the company had gone six hundred dollars in the hole, but the year end saw them with a clearance of thirty-five hundred dollars. In the early days Mr. Frost said he had to go to the saw mill to get cedar posts, and it was customary for him to get out in the morning and walk ten or fifteen miles to make a sale, then go back to his little factory, and work all day over him, and proceed to get the order out.

This continued for a number of years, but each month gradually won an increase over the corresponding one of the year before. The staff was increased, new machinery was purchased, and the Frost wire became pretty well known all over the country, and orders began pouring in as fast as they could be filled. It was added that there has not been a month that has not shown a bigger percentage than the previous month, and that those that were recognized as being built all over the country. "The trouble with most business men," exclaimed he, "is that they are afraid to grow." When it is reported that times are slack, they just shake their heads and do the best they can; that is the way they should act, he said, that he should be most aggressive.

Mr. Frost outlined several schemes that gave the idea of the reputation of having the best men in the country in his service, special mention being made of the Kohler property, which he had created to big trips at the expense of the company. One is now under way, where fifty men will be taken to the Pan American Exposition, and also have a visit to the Panama-Pacific exhibition. On these trips a special observation will be made of the various attractions, and for a month the passengers lead a luxurious life. Mr. Frost had travelled a great deal, and as a guide to his personal visits to the places visited would be hard to find.

After speaking well of his staff, the chief engineer, and his factory, each department being visited and the inner workings explained. The rooms were shown, smelting, rolling, and the like, and the number of wires miles and miles of complete fencing. The welding together of steel tubes was also shown, and the article was stored. The plant is run day and night, and it is estimated that between 100 and 120 tons of wire per day is cut out every twenty-four hours. The inspection pleased all and Mr. Frost was the recipient of many words of thanks for his interesting and instructive tour that had been enjoyed.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IN FAIL

Toronto Dwellings So Informe Board of Health.

TO GARBAGE MEN

Norman Clark Will Have a Talk With Them.

The Board of Health met yesterday afternoon in the City Hall, but were considerably behind schedule, when work on the bill was commenced, no queen being present until 3.30. Mayor Allan, Controller Gardner, ex-Al. N. Clark and Dr. Roberts eventually sat in solemn conclave, assisted by Secretary H. Barr.

A letter from the Toronto Dwellings Company asking that they be not made to connect the sewers to seven-ton houses which they own and real estate agent, Mr. J. C. McLean, said that they were going to begin construction work in September of this year, and the expenses of such work as is required to connect the sewers would be almost as much as the revenue derived from the rentals. They guaranteed to enter into a contract to keep the vaults in a sanitary condition, and after the circumstances were granted, but the buildings must be down by March 1, 1916. The Toronto Dwellings Co. represents the C. N. R. Railway.

J. B. Griffith, of the Dominion Power & Transmission Company, was asked the board to look into the matter of gas being escaping into the Terminal Station to the detriment of the health of the employees. It being agreed to do so.

Major Allan said it was handy up to the city to go to the expenses of finding out whose gas was escaping into town.

Controller Gardner was of the decided opinion that the city should protest these people in that it was the city that had given the franchise to these gas companies.

The board agreed to this, but said it was not the Board's business to give a short address on the wire industry of the country, telling his listeners that he had had a desire to start a factory in Canada, his father giving him $2,000 for this purpose.

THE ARMY QUESTION

Still Burning Question With British Liberals.

(By Times Special Wire).
New York, April 2.—A cable to the New York American from London says:

The feature of last night's Home debate was a speech by former Premier Arthur J. Balfour, whose Tories specially brought him in to assist in the passing of the Home Rule Bill.

When yesterday's developments in Parliament are reviewed by the newspapers this morning, there seems a general conclusion in opinion that and that Mr. Balfour's speech has been to stiffen the once slackening opposition to the bill. The support of Sir Edward Grey's Federal idea proposition has dwindled away in view of the impossibility of carrying out such a scheme prior to a general election.

The Ulster leaders declare to-day that there are but three alternatives to the getting of the Home Rule Bill, or withdrawal of the Home Rule Bill,
and the consequent maintenance of Ulster's present position within the Empire.

Mr. Balfour, who has been a Standard-bearer of the Unionist party, concurred in the proposal of the passing of Home Rule by consent. The Government has not yielded in its demand of the Opposition's withdrawal of its bill. The Opposition's various offers are interpreted as signs of weakening, and if the Opposition does not take care, it may find that its advocate becomes the focal point of a movement which will be impossible.

Ulster insist on an immediate general election or a referendum—if not, an adjournment of the House of Commons from dealing with the Ulster problem. He enlarged on the question of "optional" obedience for the army, and played with the Parliament solution.

Herbert Samuel, postmaster-general, had a speech so far delivered for the Government. He vocally smashed the optional army question, agreeing by declaration:

"It will lead sure to the mess room becoming a debauching society. How are you going to draw the line between society and political opinion? The mess room will be a complete gambler, wherein will be decided what laws are to be enforced and what laws are not."

Samuel came out as a whole-hearted supporter of Federalism, making the great point that 224,000,000 people, all the white population of the Empire, live under Federal conditions.

It should be possible in this country to devise arrangements whereby we may have a majority of the white world. With Ulster excluded for years, there ought to be plenty of time to work out the details.

He then turned to the Cave, last night agreed a settlement on the basis of making Ireland a municipality in itself, a nation. John Dillon interrupted him, "Don't look at it, I hope."

He means civil war to a reason-

"I'm afraid," restored Cave.

He asserted the gentleman's proposal should be hunted out of everywhere, and he was in a hurry to return to the House.

an increasing movement in favor of the principles of Federalism, and full co-operation with the Unionists in working out a great scheme of development."

The Pall Mall reiterates the determination of the Unionists of Ulster to proceed with the establishment and proclamation of the provisional government if the Home Rule Bill be passed by the House of Commons.
